MANAGER COMMENTARY

The ACUMEN Adventurous Portfolio returned 0.49% in June and the IA Flexible Investment sector rose 2.37%. The portfolio has returned 7.65% since inception[‡].

The result of the EU Referendum came as a shock to financial markets around the world despite the tightness in the polls indicating an evenly balanced outcome. The vote to 'Leave' the European Union has plunged all wings of the UK's political establishment into crisis mode amidst an economic outlook clouded with uncertainty. It will take many months for investors to accurately quantify the impact of the decision that reverses over forty years of membership. The exit route will take a minimum of two years to negotiate once Article 50 of the Lisbon Treaty to leave the EU has been formally enacted by the UK government. The Bank of England announced that it was prepared to inject an additional £250 billion of liquidity into the banking system to help ensure the near term stability of the City's financial institutions. Volatility across all markets surged with short term, high frequency traders dictating price movements. The FTSE 100 traded in a 581 point range and closed up 4.39% at 6,504. The FTSE 250, which is comprised of small to mid-sized UK companies declined -5.32% on the basis that any reduction in access to the single market would negatively affect their future profitability. This sell-off is at odds with the benefits to UK exporters from the dramatic fall in sterling. The pound fell -8.09% versus the US dollar to reach a 31 year low of 1.32 and also lost -7.86% against the euro. The UK government bond market rallied on the expectation that short term interest rates would be cut as part of the central bank's stability programme. Ten year gilt yields dropped 56 bps and closed at a record low level of 0.87%. Looking ahead, heightened volatility is here to stay at least until the election of a new Conservative Party Prime Minister in September and the subsequent Brexit negotiations in Brussels.

INVESTMENT PHILOSOPHY

Asset allocation, rather than stock selection, is the key driver of risk and returns and the ACUMEN Portfolios are structured accordingly, in line with the Investment Association’s IA Sector guidelines. Equities will tend to outperform bonds and cash over the long term but they are subject to higher volatility so to spread risk and smooth returns, a basket of investments is required. This diversification across and within asset classes is sensible and valuable. The ACUMEN Portfolios passively track global markets and also cost significantly less than typical funds and for this reason are likely to outperform their sector.

INVESTMENT POLICY

The investment policy of the ACUMEN Adventurous Portfolio is to gain exposure through investment in a diversified portfolio comprised of passive index tracking regulated collective investment schemes (ETFs) and cash. There is no minimum exposure to bonds and/or cash and the maximum equity exposure is 100%.

RISK PROFILE

The ACUMEN Adventurous Portfolio targets a risk profile of 8.5 on a scale from 1-10, which can be characterised as “adventurous risk”. The portfolio is typically comprised of higher risk investments such as equities and commodities. The portfolio aims to produce annualised volatility in the range of 11.1% to 13.0%.
